11.00 am: Departure

This is no ordinary break for parent and child. This is no ordinary opportunity for parent to connect to child. This is the magic of stories, brought to life in the middle of nature, sitting around a campfire.

An overnigher that will be etched in the memory of your child long into their adulthood. Starts with a story session for parents while the children engage with Nature through a handwork session. Here each parent will become present to the power of stories to connect to their child, and how stories and personal narratives can build bridges of communication between parent and child for the future.

This will be followed by a story trail, where each parent will narrate a story (they have just created) to their child as they walk towards the lake.

Followed later by a campfire, where we will share stories under the starry sky, and each parent will also get an opportunity to narrate a story to all the children gathered around the crackling fire.

Attended a wagtales workshop at camp Deogadh at Pavna Lake... was eyeopening... storytelling is such an art and that as a parent I should strive hard and be a better story teller after all we all have a story and to pass that on is heirloom most of the times for the better!!! Until the next workshop... good luck to Satish and Co

Satish has a brilliant experiential way of taking everyone along on the journey of helping parents understand how to connect and bond with their children through story telling... He turns people who say they neither have creativity nor can tell stories, into beautiful storytellers!

All the best Satish, and team Wagtales!

What could have been a better weekend than camping out in the rains? An unplanned outing last week took us to this cozy, beautiful and understated place—Camp Deogad nestled amidst the natural setup near the serene banks of Pawana lake. The facilities (food/ tents/ toilets) were quite decent and there was a warmth in the service offered by the staff. A few things we noticed at our stay in Camp Deogad were that there are quite a few camping options in the same vicinity and maybe cheaper but they had some significant flaws like overcrowding, poor toilet conditions, bags/food/bottles littered around and not enough dry space and shelter besides tent. Also we observed a lot of stags and loud music playing with till late disturbing the environment. Camp Deogad on the other hand, seemed to have considered all these pain points, making it an ideal and safe place for family and friends. Not only is it a better choice to options available, but also maybe the only choice if you're looking out for some quality time camping at Pawana lake. We truly felt rejuvenated and had an enriching experience at Camp Deogad and Pawana climate. Thanks for giving us good memories that we will surely cherish for time to come.

Miriam Chandy Menacher...

wonderful experience...we camped a group of 12 and were really well looked after by Annabel and her warm staff. Absolutely scenic surroundings, exhilarating treks and views

And then returning to a campsite where there is a wonderful aesthetic and attention to detail

Highly recommend
